NO FORD VERDICT

Jury Is Locked Up at Midnight.

Five Hours Spent in Futile Deliberation of Singular Case.

Attorneys for Defense Vigorously Maintain Proof Is Lacking.

Henry Admits State Lacked Confidence to Call Ruff to Stand.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—P.M.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—The case against Henry Ford, chief counsel of the United Railroads and former Attorney-General of California, accused of bribery of former Supervisor Thomas F. Loneragan, went to the jury at 4:30 o'clock tonight. Just before midnight the jury was locked up for the night. Ford, in charge of a deputy sheriff, went to his home.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry concluded the closing argument for the prosecution at 5:40 o'clock. He spoke for two hours, following Earl Rogers, who, in a vigorous argument, closed for the defense. Judge Lander began the reading of his charge to the jury five minutes after Henry finished.

The audience which listened to the last half of Rogers' speech and the whole of Henry's was the largest that ever heard the closing of a criminal trial in San Francisco. It was estimated that 300 men and women found seats and standing room in the pews and galleries of the auditorium of the Temple Sherith Israel.

At 7:30 o'clock, no verdict having been reached and none being in sight, Judge Lander sent the jury to the Fairmont Hotel for dinner, and himself went to his club, saying he could be found later at the theater. If the jury had anything to report. If no verdict should be reached by 11:30, he said, the jury would be locked up for the night in their rooms at the Fairmont.

FINAL ARGUMENTS IN THE FORD TRIAL.
(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Attorney Albert A. Moore of the defense in the Ford case, today resumed his opening argument to the jury at the convention of court this morning. Reminding the jury that the prosecution had not even attempted to introduce a word of direct testimony connecting Ford with the commission of the crime charged—the bribing of Supervisor Thomas F. Loneragan—Moore stated that the case was a distorted and untrue picture of the facts.

He asked if the defendant, "a man full of years and honorable," were to be deprived of his liberty and his character and in effect his life by such weak, delusive, inconclusive and suspicious testimony as the prosecution has here adduced, when Mr. Ford has been by no evidence connected with this crime. Moore repeated that the only accusatory allegations against Ford in all the vast bulk of transcribed testimony were these:

James B. Duke Presents Wife With Necklace Which Cost $200,000.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After scouring the cities of America and Europe for the most perfect string of pearls to be found, James B. Duke, head of the American Tobacco Company, has just presented to Mrs. Duke (formerly Mrs. William Inman of Atlanta) a necklace that cost him $200,000.

The one condition of purchase was that every pearl should be flawless, and several of the larger jewelry houses in this city, London and Paris were on the outlook. One necklace after another was refused until the perfect one was found.

Today there was a thrill in the jewelry district of Fifth avenue when it became known that the $200,000 trinket had been turned over to Mr. Duke.

Remarkable Story Told by Canadian at Chicago on His Way to New York to Begin Fight for Fortune—Held Prisoner in Mexico.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A fortune of $100,000 by a wealthy woman whom he befriended in a train wreck, kidnaped, "shanghaied," taken aboard a ship, and held prisoner in his filthy hold for months, from which he escaped only to be thrown into a Mexican prison and again held prisoner for months and at last find that he had been robbed of his alleged inheritance, if the story of Fred C. Dorway of Sudbury, Ont., as told by him today at the Palmer House.

He is here with his wife, whom he says he has not seen since January, 1906, when he was kidnaped in Montreal. Dorway is now on his way to New York to take steps to recover the money of which he alleges he was defrauded.

"It was left to me by Mrs. J. H. James of Fifth avenue, New York, who died soon after the train wreck," he says. He entrusted his rights to J. J. Dunlop, an attorney of Kansas City, and says he believes the latter was cognizant of the kidnapping plot.

Dorway is a telegraph operator and says he was stationed at Rush Lake, Manitoba, on the Canadian Pacific, in November, 1905.

DORWAY'S YARN.
One bitter night in that month the east-bound Canadian Pacific Limited was cut in two and ran as two sections. In the blinding snow the second section crashed into the first, near Moosejaw. He went to the scene of the wreck. In the last sleeper he found Mrs. J. H. James, who was severely injured. He assisted in carrying her to a section house, put his fur coat around the unconscious woman and summoned medical assistance.

He carried her to the nearest house and paid the attending physician $25. He sent the bill to Mrs. James, stating, he said, that he was a young married man and could not spare the $25.

"In a month," said he, "I received a package of papers and a letter, stating that Mrs. James had died, and in her will had bequeathed me $100,000. Through the advice of friends, I placed the matter in the hands of J. J. Dunlop of Kansas City. In January, 1906, I received a letter from him in New York, asking me to meet him.

"I went from Sudbury by way of Montreal. There I met a man who gave me the name of Malcomson. He had a letter of introduction to me. I refused to drink, but in my room he gave me some chocolate candy.

"That is the last I remember until I found myself aboard ship in a dark, filthy space in the hold. I have an indistinct recollection of riding on a train before I was on the ship.

ESCAPE FROM SHIP.
"I had lost all idea of time, my mind simply being held to one purpose—escape from that dungeon. At times a hatchway would be partly opened, and bread and water was thrust down to me. Once in a great while a piece of half-cooked meat of some kind. I could hear men talking, and one time I heard one man say: 'We are going ashore tonight, and will leave you and Bill to watch the prisoner. We are going on a spree.'

"I made up my mind to escape. When the two men opened the hatchway to give me food, I shoved my suspenders into the open crack the partly lifted hatchway made, preventing its being firmly fastened. It was not discovered until the ship was in the harbor. I slipped away and was on the vessel's deck. One guard saw me and attacked me. I knocked him over board into the water, where he was probably drowned.

PRISONER IN MEXICO.
"I escaped ashore and found I was in Vera Cruz, Mex. I was almost blind from the long confinement in the ship's hold, was arrested and put in prison. In six weeks I again escaped to Soledad, where I boarded the ship Perisla and told my story to Capt. Jenkins, an American, and he carried me to San Francisco, where I landed on August 14 last.

"I had been stripped of all marks of identification, even the name on my clothes. I telegraphed my wife. The telegraph strike was on but I had to have money and was sent to Salt Lake to work. I did Associated Press work, and many of the boys wanted me to print my story.

"I wired my wife to meet me here on October 4 and she came in today. I am going to stay here a while and get money to take me to New York, where I expect to begin a legal fight for the $100,000.

"This yarn sounds like a dream, but is no dream to me."

Street Railway Receivership Case in New York in Legal Tangle.

Effort Made to Cause Clash Between State and Federal Courts.

Counsel for Companies Pave Way for an Interminable Delay.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Samuel Undermyer, protesting that he had been only just retained, therefore knew nothing of the facts of the controversy and could not possibly go on with a legal argument, gracefully slid down the same path today in Justice Seabury's part of the Supreme Court out of Paul D. Cravath on Thursday, and retired from any participation in the argument on the application of Atty.-Gen. Jackson for the appointment of Supreme Court receivers for the Metropolitan Street Railway Company there-in contained.

Coincident with this action, Judge Lacombe of the Federal Court directed United States Marshal Hendon and three deputies to proceed to the Third-avenue barns and prevent any interference with the property of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company there-in contained.

This was taken to mean that the Federal authorities were anticipating the possibility of a receiver being appointed by the State Supreme Court and needed to prevent him from assuming charge.

JUSTICE UNKNOWN.
Mr. Undermyer, in most pathetic tones, assured Justice Seabury that he could not possibly be retained to himself or his clients if he were forced to go on to an argument at so little notice, but the justice was obstinate, and the case proceeded without the two great traction companies being legally represented.

The absolute refusal of leading members of New York county bar to go on with the argument on the ground of surprise and lack of time in which to prepare, is somewhat disconcerting to the Attorney-General. He and his forces are of the opinion that there is a deep, strategic game being played on the part of skillful attorneys for the street railway trust, and that, by refusal to appear in the Supreme Court, they are paving the way to interminable delay in the shape of appeals, to say nothing of fostering a spirit of hostility between State and Federal courts, in the matter of jurisdiction.

WOULD BLOCK RECEIVERS.
The order applied for today asked, among other things, that the two railway corporations and all persons claiming to act for them, and all other persons be restrained and enjoined from exercising any of the corporate powers of the defendant companies.

This was taken to mean that, should Judge Seabury grant the motion, the receivership appointed by the United States court would be enjoined from discharging their duties imposed by law.

Justice Seabury, in reserving his decision, gave counsel until Wednesday to submit briefs.

The order of Marshal Hendon followed a long conference held in the chambers between Judge Lacombe, Arthur H. Marten, counsel for the United States receivers, and Adrian H. Johns, one of the receivers. The deputies remained on guard until Justice Seabury had adjourned court.

H. C. Frick Coal and Coke Company Buys Up Independent Concerns.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The H. C. Frick Coal and Coke Company, the fuel end of the United States Steel Corporation, closed a deal whereby the Frick company will take over its greatest competitor and the biggest independent coal and coke company in the country, the Hostetter-Connelleville Coke Company.

The entire deal involves in the neighborhood of $7,000,000.

The capital is to be increased from $5,000,000 ($1,250,000) to $10,000,000 ($2,500,000). The mines will be fully worked, and by 1910 it is calculated that the annual production will be between 200,000 and 250,000 tons of non-concentrate and briquets, containing 60 per cent. of iron of high quality. Special steamers of 3000 tons each will be built by the Norwegian owners.

Desperate but Futile Efforts Made by Corporation's Council to Place on Witness Stand G. W. Luce—Gov- ernment Inquirer Thinks Motive of Attempt Is to Secure Immunity for Man Responsible for Rebates.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "This is the first time since I have been connected with the Interstate Commerce Commission that an attorney for a railroad has made a desperate effort to get an official of the company on the witness stand as was made this morning by Attorney Dunne, in the case of Mr. Luce. This attempt to have Mr. Luce sworn was made for the purpose of obtaining immunity for him from criminal prosecution."

This statement was made this morning by Franklin K. Lane at the conclusion of the investigation of the secret rebates granted by the Southern Pacific to large shippers, during the course of which Attorney Peter P. Dunne fought desperately to get G. W. Luce, chief traffic agent of the Southern Pacific, on the witness stand.

AFTER MEN HIGHER UP.

The evidence shows that most of the secret agreements were made by Luce for the company, and if he could have been sworn and given his testimony, it would have granted him immunity from criminal prosecution. Luce had the authority to enter into these agreements for the company on his own responsibility, and it is not probable that any one higher up than himself in the affairs of the company could have been prosecuted on the strength of his testimony.

To prevent the highest officials that it is possible to prosecute from escaping, Commissioner Lane refused to permit Luce to swear and to testify.

The desperation of Dunne was equalled by that of the large shippers who have been receiving the secret rebates.

RUN TO COVER.

The solicitation or receipt of such rebates is an criminal practice as the granting of such rebates, and the attorneys and agents for the commission said that they had never seen such a run to cover on the part of shippers since the commission was organized. After the publication of the secret rebates in the newspapers, there was a stampede of the shippers to get on the stand and tell all they know.

Nothing was held back. Everything was told freely. No shippers displayed any hesitancy in testifying. Their chief anxiety was as to whether Attorney Dunne would accept their testimony and permit them to wash off their reputation in the cooling waters of immunity.

Attorney Dunne said, after the conclusion of the investigation, that the testimony of the shippers completed the case, and that the report to the Department of Justice would embody evidence against the shippers, but not the Southern Pacific officials, more than 100 cases, and that most of the evidence pointed to the fact that G. W. Luce had been responsible for the secret agreements.

LUCE NOT PERMITTED TO MAKE STATEMENT.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—An unsuccessful effort was made by Attorney Peter P. Dunne for the Southern Pacific Railroad to have Chief Traffic Agent Luce placed on the stand this morning at the close of the taking of testimony by Interstate Commerce Commissioner Lane. The commissioner made his reasons for doing so plain.

"If Mr. Luce was placed on the stand," he said, "it might raise the question of immunity."

This is an open suggestion that indictments may follow as a result of the discrimination in rates made by the Southern Pacific to interstate shippers. Those were in many instances arranged by Luce.

"It would," added Mr. Lane, "be improper and expedient at this time to give Mr. Luce the benefit of immunity."

Dunne said that Luce could complete the explanation of the special or preferential rates which have been partially made by J. G. Stubbs, and Dunne pleaded at length that Luce should be sworn. But Commissioner Lane declined to permit the oath to Luce, but said he could make a statement and it would be embodied in the record. Dunne would agree to this, but would not call the other assistant freight agents, "for," he said, "the knowledge of these matters alone rests in Mr. Luce."

Commissioner Lane said there were forty or fifty counts, and possibly a hundred, involving interstate shippers, and criminal prosecution might ensue. He did not want to bar the way of those who would reach the victors of the law.

AMENDS HIS TESTIMONY.

Another sensational feature of the hearing occurred when John Dillon, one of the chiefs of the Miller & Lux corporations, asked for permission to take the stand so as to amend his testimony given yesterday. He then said he got a reduction on the published rate on local shipments since the Hepburn act, "and I must say," he added, "this influenced me to give the interstate business to the Southern Pacific."

Before the Hepburn act they had a concession, but he could not remember with whom he discussed it. Most likely he sent the bills in along with the local bills, asking that the rate from Portland to Stockton be added to their local rate, and the bills went through accordingly. They got shipments from the East, with the freight of which they had nothing to do. Sometimes they are unloaded on delivery, but sometimes they are moved in cars and reloaded on their local rate without unloading.

E. E. Calvin of the Southern Pacific was examined as to the supply of tank cars for independent shippers. He said that they have always been furnished their quota of cars the same as others, but concerns at times misrepresented their requirements.

SALE OF TANK CARS.

Regarding the sale of 200 cars to the Associated Oil witness said they ordered 25 tank cars and the Associated Oil had been complaining that they were showing favoritism to the Standard Oil and allowing them to take some of their contracts. They had 150 cars before they ordered the 25. When these would be delivered they would have sufficient cars to meet the requirements of all other shippers without the couple of hundred sold to the Associated Oil.

During the last year they had complaints from independent shippers and had a few this year. When they got the complaints they took the matter up with the Associated Oil, whose headquarters are in Bakersfield. John C. Ship, secretary of the Illinois-Pacific Glass Company, made a statement as to the rate on shipments from Lake Meville to the effect that a reduced rate was made to meet competition from other sources of supply.

S. B. Tobey of the Union Ice Company was called a witness. He got his rate, the one lower than the published rate, by asking Mr. Luce personally. He urged competition as the reason for a lower rate in speaking to Luce.

HAVEN'T DONE IT YET.

"Do you have it in your power, if you get a lower rate from the Southern Pacific, to put another ice company out of business?" Lane asked.

"No, sir. We have never succeeded in doing it yet," the witness replied. He added: "We do a little interstate business. We have a station in Arizona and another in Nevada. We do nearly all the commercial business of the State."

T. W. Hopkins is the chief owner of the Union Ice Company, and he has far as the witness knew, had no affiliations with the Southern Pacific. Rates showing a reduction from San Francisco to Shreveport, La., Milwaukee, Wis., etc., were called to the attention of the witness.

"All these rates," he said, "are made to meet the competition of local machines."

R. Schwabacher of the Florin Fruit and Paper Company said they had large lumber interests near Florin. He went to the Southern Pacific and asked for a rate for oil and fuel. He got a rate of 15 cents a gallon, or 6 cents a barrel. They had no competition in the oil business. The stockton mill was out of commission.

This closed the hearing.

LAW NOT VIOLATED, SAYS MR. DUNNE.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Peter P. Dunne, general attorney for the Southern Pacific, was very positive when interviewed tonight that the interstate commerce law had not been violated by the Southern Pacific in making special rates within the interstate commerce law. He said that the law was not violated because the rates were not made for the purpose of discriminating against any shipper, but were made for the purpose of meeting the competition of other lines.

"The law," he said, "is not violated because the rates were not made for the purpose of discriminating against any shipper, but were made for the purpose of meeting the competition of other lines."

"The law," he said, "is not violated because the rates were not made for the purpose of discriminating against any shipper, but were made for the purpose of meeting the competition of other lines."

TO MEET WATER COMPETITION.

"That these State rates were reduced not because of favoritism, but to meet actual water and team competition and competition from quarters outside the State, was shown by every shipper who took the stand. But one shipper was heard to say that he had been 'prejudiced' to give an interstate shipment on account of a reduced local rate, but further inquiry developed the fact that in his case the local rate was compelled by reason of water and team competition."

"John W. Stubbs, assistant general freight agent of the Southern Pacific Company, testified as to the State rates and that the reason for the reduction was to meet local competition without any reference to interstate business, and that the reduced rates were accorded to all shippers under the same circumstances and conditions."

GIVEN TO ALL SHIPPERS.

"As to the State rates, of which Mr. Stubbs did not have knowledge, the Southern Pacific Company referred to the fact that the rates were given to all shippers under the same circumstances and conditions, without reference to interstate business, but the commissioner declined to take the sworn testimony of Mr. Luce, on the ground that he might possibly gain immunity thereby, although as to the rates the sworn testimony of Assistant Freight Agent Stubbs had been taken, and was intact by Mr. Luce. Mr. Luce swore likewise in order to complete the explanation."

"An attempt was made to give the examination a sensational aspect because of the refunds which had been made, but it turned out that all the papers in reference to these refunds were open and accessible to the commission and its inspectors, and had been fully examined by them, and that the system of making public the rates of water competitors to the rates of the railroad was being carried by the railroad."

"The whole thing smacked down to the conclusion that the so-called 'rebates' or 'refunds' represented simply the making of competitive rates on local shipments, and that all shippers within the sphere of the competition were treated alike."

President of Telegraphers' Order Takes Charge of Effort to Get Wire Tether Released.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

DENVER, Oct. 4.—H. B. Perham, national president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, arrived in Denver yesterday to take personal charge of the grievance of the telegraphers against the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, acting as adviser to the committee composed of the chairman of the grievance committee on the roads west of the Missouri River, who have been called together to consider the situation.

A statement of H. B. Skoggs, discharged because of his refusal to testify before the committee at Grand Junction, has been demanded by the telegraphers and has been flatly refused by the Denver and Rio Grande officials.

"We have not come to talk strike, but to present our demand in a gentlemanly way," said President Perham today.

PAYS LESS THAN HALF RATES TO AFRICA.

So Alleges Manager of New York Oil Company, Who Produces Omnibus Contract in Proof—Brother of Ida Tarbell Tells How Pure Oil Company Was Crushed.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "That every steamship company operating between New York and ports in Africa transports lubricating oil for the Standard company less than half the rate paid by any competing concern was alleged today in the trial to wipe out the Rockefeller corporation. An omnibus contract was produced in court as proof of the enormous discrimination in favor of the Standard company."

Philip Harrison, manager of the New York Lubricating Oil Company, who produced the contract, declared that his company was forced to pay more than double the Standard's rate, notwithstanding his protest to the steamship companies.

The war of obstruction waged by the Standard Oil Company against the extension of the lines of the Pure Oil Company and the United States Pipe Line Company, independent of the Standard, was described by W. W. Tarbell, treasurer of the second-named concern.

Tarbell, a brother of Miss Ida Tarbell, who, during the past years, has written extensively on the methods of the Standard, said Rockefeller Company's testimony is now being taken, and that the Standard company at every step to prevent it from reaching the seaboard with its pipe line.

Tarbell testified that the Pure Oil Company laid out districts in which to do business, so as to "keep away from certain railroads and waterways."

ACTORS FOR SUNDAY CLOSING.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A boom started today at the first reception of the season of the Actors' Church Alliance in the Auditorium parlors. Lawrence Dunbar of the People's Theater Stock Company was the first to make a plea for the closing of theaters on Sunday. Other members of the profession echoed his sentiments. The bivy of theatrical men and women present enthusiastically applauded the speakers.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Alleging that he had been duped into paying $100 for a girl who lived with him scarcely a month, Steve Wyton, 21 years old, has filed a remarkable suit in the Circuit Court here against Stella Stevens, "Queen Stella" of the gypsies, and her husband, George Stevens. The complaint avers that the parents of the girl promised her in marriage if he would pay them the sum named. He agreed, and was married in Chicago eight months ago to "Princess" Denna, the daughter of "Queen Stella" was known. A month afterward his wife left him.

GIRL BRIDE A GIANTESS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Marriage License Clerk Clements was startled this afternoon when Miss Marcella George, Lynchburg, Ill., six feet tall and veiled, told him she was only 14 years old. The arrangement for her hair made her look taller than six feet. The clerk issued the license when she lifted her veil, showing her youthful face and her father, who weighs 300 pounds, sanctioned the marriage to Jacob Herpin, 38, who is much smaller than his bride-to-be. They had been refused a license today in East St. Louis.

During London Celebration of Centenary Savants Receive University Degrees.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The most notable courtesies of geologists in the history of science was that which has just finished a seven day's celebration of the centenary of the Geological Society of London. Nearly 200 delegates and visitors, representing the chief institutions and learned societies of the world, have been the guests of the society and of Oxford and Cambridge, where honorary degrees were conferred upon some of the distinguished of the foreign visitors.

The United States was represented by twelve delegates from its chief institutions and these were others from Canada, Mexico and several of the South American nations.

Probably no other learned society has exercised so profound an influence on science as has this organization during the hundred years of its existence.

Wife Says It Is an Attempt at Blackmail.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SEATTLE, Oct. 4.—(Exclusive Dispatch.)—A sensational case was caused by the alleged divorce of a minister from his wife, which was today announced by the Boston Jeweler, who seeks to recover $25,000 for alleged alienation of his wife's affections.
The wife was filed by Frank B. West, a local attorney, in the Superior court, and is one of the leading ministers of the city and ranks as one of its most prominent preachers.
The alienation is alleged to have occurred in 1904 and 1905, when Jones was connected with a Boston church. The present Mrs. Jones was Miss Horton, daughter of the pioneer jeweler, Dexter Horton. Jones was a member of the Center Street Baptist church, and his charges are sensational.
Mrs. Jones stated today that she has no recollection of her husband's alleged divorce, and that she has no knowledge of the suit against her husband. She declared the suit to be an attempt at blackmail, and that she would fight it to the bitter end.
The case is being handled by the law firm of West & West, 100 N. 2nd St., Boston.

MEMPHIS OPENS ARMS TO CHIEF EXECUTIVE.

Downpour of Rain Does Not Interfere With Enthusiastic Welcome and Congestion of Crowds—President's Speech Characteristic.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

MEMPHIS, Oct. 4.—With hands playing, children singing and enthusiastic men shouting the slogan of the deep waterway, Memphis threw wide her gates this afternoon to President Roosevelt, a score of Governors and many distinguished men of the Mississippi Valley. The President arrived on the steamship shortly after 1 o'clock. The streets overlooking the river were packed with people who gave the Chief Executive a warm welcome. Despite a lively downpour of rain, which lasted until noon, the streets were jammed with people. Passing north on Second street, two thousand not ask other governments to "kindly not bother the canal." We will protect it.

"We must have a larger and highly efficient navy to patrol our coasts, not only on the Atlantic, but on the Pacific," he said.

He urged the people to disregard party lines in all purely national matters.

In connection with his discussion of the corporations, the President said he experienced in the past few years had brought him to the point of feeling sincere sympathy for certain gentlemen who stand up for labor, and the most common sense remarks.

It had come to the point, he said, where a remark of his that honesty was the best policy is liable to lead to a run on the banks.

He did not want to punish any one except for wrongdoing, but he would punish a wickedness which is rich as freely as the one who is poor.

"UNDESIRABLE CITIZENS." "I will use my utmost power to stamp out murderous and lawless anarchy," he declared, "and I will no more stay my hand because a wrongdoer is a labor leader than I will because he is a capitalist who wins a fortune by chicanery and wrongdoing, and when he is a man who under the guise of standing up for labor preaches and encourages violence and murder."

"I have heretofore expressed myself on the subject of undesirable citizens, and I stand by what I said, alike when he is a great capitalist who wins a fortune by chicanery and wrongdoing, and when he is a man who under the guise of standing up for labor preaches and encourages violence and murder."

When the President closed his address, he was driven rapidly to his train at the Mississippi-Pacific railroad station, and departed at 2 o'clock for Lake Providence, La., for a hunting trip.

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH ON DEEP WATERWAY.

William K. Kavanaugh, President of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway Association, who delivered an address yesterday at Memphis.

school children were seated on a decorated arch, and sang patriotic airs as the President passed.

The President arose in his carriage, and bowed repeatedly to the little ones. Arriving at the Auditorium Hotel, where the Deep Waterway Convention is being held, President Roosevelt alighted and after chatting with several friends ascended the platform.

The huge structure filled up rapidly, and when Gov. Patterson arose to present the President, an immense assemblage greeted him.

AT THE CONVENTION.

The Deep Waterways Convention was called to order by W. K. Kavanaugh of St. Louis, president of the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways Commission, at 10:30 o'clock a.m. Proceeding the arrival of the President, Mr. Kavanaugh addressed the convention and was listened to attentively. He said:

TRAFFIC IS INCREASING.

President Kavanaugh spoke as follows:

"Water transportation has always been a most valuable auxiliary to rail, and it is now indeed proper that the administrative branch of the government should give attention to the improvement of our national resources for if the railroads can barely handle the traffic of today, what may be expected in ten years, when this traffic is not stopped at the waterway?"

"The conditions of great delay in movement of commerce of the country have affected all sections—north, east, south and west. We, therefore, do not have to point to our motto that river regulation is rate regulation and the many commercial arguments that could be set forth for the reason that it appears that we have almost reached the limit of the railroad's capacity of today, and it is fairly evident that the growth of the country cannot be taken care of by them."

IMPROVEMENT DEMANDED.

"A great awakening, therefore, has come to the people of this country, and while we formerly requested assistance of the government at Washington—provision of assistance in the development of our great natural resources and of our inland waterways—the people now have come to demanding in no uncertain terms, that these improvements be made at once."

"By turning toward the Gulf the food of export grain and other bulky articles, the lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway would relieve eastern terminals of the oppressive traffic and enable them to handle their shipments with reasonable dispatch and economy. Another essential point to be considered is that every dollar saved in the transportation cost is added wealth directly to the people."

MAKE NATIONAL ISSUE.

"The question is, shall we go on paying double and treble freight on our raw materials? Let us unite in our demand and ask that the officials of this government no longer delay the great projects which are so dear to the heart of the people of the Mississippi Valley, and if it is necessary let us make a national issue, for I believe, for one, that that day will soon come when no man can be elected President who does not favor a broad national policy regarding the improvement of our harbors and the improvement of our inland waterways."

"Let these great projects which must develop our commercial resources be handled in a business-like way. Why should there not be a department of public works, having jurisdiction over all of the great projects, which are and must of necessity be fostered by this government?"

The President did not reach the convention hall until 2:30 o'clock p.m. He was welcomed by Gov. Patterson of Tennessee, who introduced the President to the assembly.

CHANGES HIS SPEECH.

President Roosevelt departed from his printed speech in several instances. Speaking of a deep-water channel from the Gulf to the Lakes, the President said he favored rapid improvement of the Mississippi River.

"Like Davy Crockett, the great Tennesseean," he said, "I favor his motto, 'Be sure you are right, then go ahead,' and this deep-water problem is almost up to the 'go ahead' stage, but we want to be sure about it."

"When the Panama Canal has been completed," he said, "this nation will not ask other governments to "kindly not bother the canal." We will protect it.

"We must have a larger and highly efficient navy to patrol our coasts, not only on the Atlantic, but on the Pacific," he said.

He urged the people to disregard party lines in all purely national matters.

In connection with his discussion of the corporations, the President said he experienced in the past few years had brought him to the point of feeling sincere sympathy for certain gentlemen who stand up for labor, and the most common sense remarks.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS FROM MEMPHIS SPEECH.

"THE valley of the Mississippi is politically and commercially more important than any other valley on the face of the globe. Here, more than anywhere else, will be determined the future of the United States."

"The Mississippi River and its tributaries ought by all means to be utilized to their utmost possibility. Facility of cheap transportation is an essential of our modern civilization."

"The railroads have shown that they alone cannot meet the demands of the country for transportation, and where this is true the rivers should begin to supplement the railroads."

"The demand for navigation is hardly more pressing than the demands for reclaiming lands by irrigation in the arid regions and by drainage in the humid regions or for utilizing the water power now running to waste."

"The coal and oil measures which remain are passing rapidly or have already passed into the possession of great corporations, which acquire enormous power through an unchecked control of these prime necessities of modern life—a control without supervision of any kind."

"The whole future of the nation is at stake in the momentous decision that is forced upon us—shall we continue the waste and destruction of our natural resources or shall we conserve them? There is no other question of equal gravity now before the nation."

"The one intolerable position for a self-respecting nation or a self-respecting man is to bluff and not make good."

ard of living, and have developed a standard of self-respecting, self-reliant manhood, which are of good augury for the future of the entire Mississippi Valley."

"Such being the heart of the United States, all that concerns its welfare must concern likewise the whole country. Therefore, the Mississippi River and its tributaries ought by all means to be utilized to their utmost possibility. Facility of cheap transportation is an essential of our modern civilization, and we cannot afford any longer to neglect the great highways which nature has provided for us."

"These natural highways, the waterways, can never be monopolized by any corporation. They belong to all the people, and it is in the power of no one to take them away."

"Wherever a navigable river runs beside railroads, the problem of regulating the rates on the railroads becomes far easier, because river regulation is rate regulation. When the water rate sinks, the land rate cannot be kept at an excessive height. Therefore, it is of national importance to develop the principle of river regulation to the fullest extent which is genuinely profitable."

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS.
"Fear by year transportation problems become more acute, and the time has come when the rivers really fit to serve as arteries of trade should be provided with channels deep enough and wide enough to make the investment of the necessary money profitable to the public."

"The national government should undertake this work. Where the immediate abutting land is markedly benefited, and this benefit can be definitely localized, it should be made a careful investigation to see whether some way can be devised by which the immediate beneficiaries may pay a portion of the expenses—as is now the custom as regards certain classes of improvements in our municipalities, and measures should be taken to secure from the localities specially benefited proper terminal facilities."

"The expense to the nation of entering upon such a scheme of river improvement as that which I believe it should undertake, will necessarily be great. Many cautious and conservative people will look askance upon the project, and from every standpoint it is necessary, if we wish to make it successful, that we should enter upon it only under conditions which will guarantee the nation against waste of its money, and which will insure us against entering upon any project un-

Joint Stations for Seattle and Tacoma.

Union Pacific Spends Millions in Washington.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
TACOMA, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. D. Farrell, general manager of the Harriman lines in Washington, has been called to Chicago and New York to consult with Mr. Harriman and Julius Kruttschnitt regarding the plan for direct competition with the ILL line in this State.

Among other things, arrangements are to be made in Chicago with the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway whereby the Union Pacific will acquire a half interest in the main line of the St. Paul road between Tacoma and Seattle Junction near Seattle, a distance of twenty-five miles. From Tacoma the St. Paul road will enter Seattle over leased track, while the Union Pacific will build its own line. Plans are also under consideration at Seattle for joint stations for the Union Pacific and St. Paul. Being going East, Farrell approved plans for having three big tunnels, one each at Tacoma, Seattle and across John's Bay near Portland, the one through Tacoma being nearly a mile and a half long.

Farrell's return contracts will be for the construction of a new Harriman line between Tacoma and Portland. Twenty million dollars have been expended for rights of way and tunnels in Tacoma and Seattle.

GUATEMALA'S NEW ROAD.

Preparations Made for Opening of Line That Will Connect Atlantic and Pacific.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.—A.M.
GUATEMALA CITY, Oct. 4.—Great preparations are being made here for the inauguration of the railroad connecting the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of this republic.

The new line represents a heavy investment of American capital, and it is expected that it will open a new era of prosperity for the republic. In connection with the inauguration of the line, a new market for American manufactures will be opened. With the new line, the entire coffee crop will be sent to market by the Atlantic coast of the republic and this will open up the disadvantage of the steamship route. The earthquake shocks were felt last week, but none were serious.

PURE FOOD.

LOUIS GETS BETTER MILK.

SHIPMENT AND LOCAL OFFICIALS CO-OPERATE.

Mississippi Valley Metropolitan is the City to Benefit by Enactment of New National Law—Fifteen Chemists and Inspectors from Washington Investigate Dairies.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] As a result of the cooperation of the United States Department of Agriculture, the city of St. Louis will be the first city in the country to benefit by the enactment of the new national pure food law.

The new law will take effect a few days ago. The five days fifteen chemists and inspectors in the employ of the government direct from Washington, are at work getting samples of milk shipped into this city and making chemical analysis of it. Formal charges of adulteration was found in many cases by the government officers, and prosecutions are sure to follow in the United States District Court.

Mr. W. D. Bigelow, referee of food inspection and chief of the food division of the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture, came to St. Louis with Chemist Inspector Walter J. Campbell, and chemists and nine other inspectors completed the party, all incognito.

The chemists will look after the milk supply from the time it leaves the farm. He will do his utmost to keep the local dairies within the law, he says.

NO FORD VERDICT.

of money openly and publicly from the mint.

Second, that Ford saw Ruef in the latter's workshop at his temporary quarters immediately after the fire.

Third, that Gallagher, the confessed perjurer, said that Ruef told him Ford had given this money to him.

HENRY IS ABSENT.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Henry was absent during the session regarding his argument. With Dist. Atty. Langdon and Asst. Dist. Atty. O'Gara at the prosecution's table sat Capt. J. D. Fredericks, District Attorney of Los Angeles county.

Moore finished at 11:10 o'clock, and after the usual morning recess of ten minutes had been taken Earl Rogers began the closing argument for the defense.

The crowd in attendance was greater than the seating capacity of the synodical hall, and many people stood.

Rogers opened by painting an impressionistic picture of the harrowing conditions that existed in San Francisco immediately after the earthquake and fire.

Rogers declared that the first man to bring a lawsuit into the smoldering city was Theodore M. Calhoun, that Patrick Calhoun was the first man to say: "My fortune goes into San Francisco, how about yours?"

That George Chapman, General Manager of the United Railroads, "walked himself into the grave, going up and down among the ashes of a ruined metropolis and sheltering the homeless man who was the Union Railroad's victim."

He said that the picture of the United Railroads was turned by the United Railroads—who, carried the picture of the people in their cars until stopped by Rudolph Spreckels from doing so, then opened their treasury to the relief corporation.

"Now," cried Rogers, lifting his voice till it rang under the dome of the painted tabernacle, "now their associate, T. L. Ford, who labored with them and for you, side by side and shoulder to shoulder through days that tried men's souls and nights of darkness and of terror, is to be sent to the penitentiary—why? Because Rudolph Spreckels wants their street car system for himself. Are you going to stand for it?"

"DENOUNCES EXAMINER."

Taking up "the case of Loneragan," Rogers charged that his confession to the San Francisco Examiner, secured "before Spreckels got to him"—a confession which contradicts his story on the stand—was made under threat by the Examiner to accuse him of "a hideous crime" unless he "told the story of the Board of Supervisors' skulduggery."

O'Gara interrupted Rogers at this point with the declaration that the newspaper incident did not happen until after Loneragan had been before the grand jury, and that the insinuation that Loneragan had revamped his testimony at the behest of Spreckels was "deliberately and unqualifiedly false."

The two lawyers thundered at each other for several minutes in kind. O'Gara finally shouting that if Loneragan's confession to the Examiner was made under threats and coercion, the story itself should be viewed by honest men as a lie.

Rogers snapped this up by replying that under that reasoning the jury must view the testimony of all the supervisors in this case as a web of lies, for every one of them testified under the weight of notorious coercion imposed by Spreckels, Burns and Henry.

At 12:15 o'clock Rogers requested an adjournment, as he was obviously exhausted by the vehemence of his pleading.

Rogers, resuming at the afternoon session at 2 o'clock, impressed upon the jury the exactions of the law that the burden had been put upon the prosecution, and that the defendant must be acquitted unless he was the test of the circumstances consistent with his guilt, and exclude beyond a reasonable doubt his innocence.

He laid powerful stress on the failure of the defense to produce a witness in their opening statement to prove by the testimony of Ruef that Ford paid the $250,000 of bribe money to him.

ASKS THE REASON.

Rogers demanded to know why, if Patrick Calhoun desired to bribe the Supervisors, he did not transport the $250,000 here secretly, and no hide his tracks, instead of passing it publicly through the mint in broad daylight and through the relief corporation, "at the time the most public place in San Francisco, if not in the country."

He asked the jury why Henry did not "build his boasted promise" to show that this $250,000 was never entered in the United Railroads' books.

"When we brought our books here," said Rogers, "Henry side-stepped, he evaded his promise, he made no attempt to make good."

"If Mr. Henry is going to get a conviction on paper money, if he is going to send a man to the penitentiary on the denunciations of currency, perhaps he will be able to get a conviction for you the testimony of his own mint officials, that the largest bills they gave Gen. Ford were gold certificates of the denomination of $100, and the testimony of his own immunity bailed. Supervisors that they got $50 bills," said Rogers.

"They charge in their opening statement promised to prove, that charge to you, that T. L. Ford 'gave and offered' to Thomas P. Loneragan a bribe."

"I defy them, now, to point to one column, and Cates, not to be outdone by his competitors, gave an exhibition of heaving the sphere that was up to the standard of the afternoon. Such a little thing as a home throw may often go unnoticed, but when it is accomplished in such an artistic fashion as was exhibited today, and when, too, it helps Portland to win a game, it is deserving of some consideration.

The batters were long on hits as usual, but the pitchers were not. The pitchers of the three celebrities mentioned very nicely and showed their heads to the Commuters, 4 to 3. Egan and Heilmuller threw a bit of a scare into them in the eighth inning, but Bobbie Groom was doing fair work and held his own.

Cates had his fanning wing working in good shape, but he was not particularly hard to find on other occasions and was also liberal with his transportation. In the second inning Kennedy past Egan who put Egan over the score the first run on his own single, a sacrifice and a single.

COUNTY LEAGUE IS BROKEN UP.

FOUR BIG SCHOOLS WITHDRAW FROM ORGANIZATION.

All High Schools Will Have to Arrange Special Schedules This Season—San Diego and Los Angeles Are to Meet on Southern Gridiron Thanksgiving Day.

Throp Institute and the Pasadena, Los Angeles and Polytechnic High schools have withdrawn from the County High School Athletic League, and that organization will be discontinued this year. The managers of the three teams decided to secure their games independent of the league.

Until this year all the high schools in the county played in the league. The managers of the teams have given no reason for this step, and Secretary Thompson was only notified yesterday that these teams would not play the football schedule as arranged. Thompson already had given out the schedule of games, but since the high schools' season these dates will not be played, and each school will have to make independent schedules.

The local High School will play San Diego High on Thanksgiving Day on the southern square grounds. The San Diego school will entertain fifteen of the Los Angeles boys. This is the first game the local team ever had with the southern school, and from the reports Los Angeles will meet a good squad.

The managers have agreed to exchange games every year.

BASKETBALL SCHEDULE.

Los Angeles High School Team Has Full Dates for Fall Term, Beginning Next Week.

The Los Angeles High School boys' basketball team has secured games with all the schools of the County League and will open the contest for the season on Monday, October 12, with Santa Monica. The following schedule for the high school team:

COUNTRY CLUB FINALS.

Glendale Tennis Players to Complete Tournament Today for Hand-some Prizes.

The finals of the men's and women's events will be finished today at the Glendale Country Club. The Junior Open singles are scheduled first at 1 o'clock. The senior events to be played are:

Men's doubles—Balthis and Tatum against McLaughery and Rue.
Mixed doubles—Mrs. Tatum and McLaughery against Miss McLaughery and Tatum.

L. C. Brand will then present the prizes and trophy cups. Mr. and Mrs. Tatum have won the challenge cups for the men's and women's singles. These cups are to be won three years by the same person, when they become the winner's property.

Mr. Brand hopes to make these tournaments a regular feature of the club, and another is planned for the coming spring.

ered St. Louis today. Lush was batted hard and Raymond, who succeeded him, failed to stop the onslaught.

LUCK WITH BOSTON. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) BOSTON, Oct. 4.—Boston won from Brooklyn in a ten-inning game today. Score: Boston, 4; hits, 7; errors, 2. Brooklyn, 3; hits, 10; errors, 2. Batteries—Lindaman and Ball; Rucker and Ritter.

SANTA BARBARA BALL. HODGES PLAY SUNDAY. (SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.) SANTA BARBARA, Oct. 4.—A thrilling game of baseball is promised for Sunday afternoon at Athletic Park here between Oscar Chavez's locals and the Hoogees of Los Angeles. The bickering of the two previous games has plainly disgusted the fans, and the management got together and decided that hereafter any disagreement will be settled by the respective captains, without the aid of other members of the team. Caswell will umpire.

Whaling has been signed by the local team from the Morans, and Thomas, who has been bickering with Ramon Ferrer in the box, has been released. Martinke is expected here from the East next Monday morning, and it is believed that he will take an active part in the home team's games. Mangerina or Carl Lewis will be behind the bat in Sunday's game.

Valuable Racer Dead. JOLIET (Ill.) Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Perfection, the $16,000 racing mare owned by George Esterbrook of Denver, Colo., died here today. She was attacked by pneumonia while being shipped from Columbus, O., to Denver. When this city was reached her condition had become such that it was necessary to abandon the trip. Every effort was made to save her, but without success.

To Build Wooden Yacht. COPENHAGEN, Oct. 4.—It is declared here that the Swedish yachtsmen who desire to challenge for the America's cup are ready to accept the conditions under which the Shamrock III sailed off Sandy Hook. It has been decided to build the Swedish challenger entirely of wood.

Another for Jack. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4.—Jack Johnson, challenger of Tommy Burns for the world's championship, has been matched to meet Jim Flynn, the Pueblo freeman, in a twenty-five round bout in this city, October 23.

SPANISH SMUGGLERS CAUGHT. Tangier Customs Officers Declare Battleship Men Were Taken With Cartridges. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.) PARIS, Oct. 4.—Special dispatches received here from Tangier declare that the customs officers of that port today stopped a shore party from a Spanish battleship, Numancia, and found eighty-three packages of cartridges for Martini rifles concealed in the sacks the men were carrying ostensibly for the purpose of getting provisions.

The bluejackets were questioned, but they were not able to give a satisfactory explanation of the destination of the cartridges. As similar parties have been landing from the Numancia for weeks, there is no doubt that large quantities of ammunition have been smuggled ashore and sold to the natives.

HANNA'S STATUE MOLDED. Colossal Bronze Model of Late Senator Made by Famed Sculptor, Is Cast in New York. (BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-A.M.) NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The colossal seated statue of the late Mark Hanna, modeled by the late Augustus Saint Gaudens, was cast in bronze at a Mt. Vernon foundry this afternoon.

It was one of the last works of the famed sculptor. The statue represents Hanna in an arm chair, the right arm of which he grasped in an energetic fashion. The head, shoulders and feet are absolutely at rest, the only suggestion of movement being in the right hand.

This impressive piece of statuary will be erected in Cleveland.

THE October Pacific Monthly, 36 cents per copy, is now on sale at all news stands. It contains four strong, vividly illustrated stories on irrigation and reclamation projects. It will interest all Western readers, and is a good magazine to send to Eastern friends, who may be interested in these subjects.

A DELIGHTFUL "travel story" in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday will be one entitled "In the Rattle Country."

AN ARTICLE in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday which will especially interest those whose memories go back to Civil War days, will be one relating to Charles Sumner, written by Gen. William Jackson Armstrong, who knew Sumner personally.

"What Irrigation in California Has to Offer Immigrants." Is a strong, strikingly illustrated article, which will interest all Western readers, and is a good magazine to send to Eastern friends, who may be interested in these subjects.

Six-Teen-Six WINTON Six-Teen-Six

Does everything that you looked for in four-cylinder cars—and didn't find. Takes grades "like coasting down hill." Low motor speed for ordinary work, giving splendid reserve power for a brilliant burst of speed or a conquering hill climb. Overlapped power strokes give constant tension on driving mechanism, eliminates jerks and shocks, and say good-bye to the repair bills and tire expenses that go with four-cylinder motor cars. Goes the route on top gear. Quiet engine—simple and perfectly housed. Rides luxuriously. Plenty of room for seven. This car marks an entirely new era in motor car building. The Winton Company takes three times as long to build each Six-Teen-Six as most makers do to build a four. This exceedingly careful manufacture reduces the Winton output to 500 cars, of which Los Angeles gets but a limited number. Winton Six-Teen-Six buyers purchase immunity from the repair shop and from the humiliation of having a second-rate car. They enjoy the distinction of driving The Exclusive Car of 1908.

LEVEE LABORERS OUT.

Sympathy Strike for New Orleans Screwmen Called by Dock and Cotton Council.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Dock and Cotton Council of New Orleans, affiliating under its jurisdiction more than 12,000 laborers of all classes employed upon levee work, voted today to call out all its members in a general strike, effective at 6 o'clock this evening.

Its action follows the absolute breach of negotiations yesterday between the levee workers and the cotton council. The strike is a sympathetic walkout for the benefit of screwmen.

Mayor Behrman says that if public order is threatened and the police department is unable to maintain it he will call on Gov. Blanchard for troops.

All levee work is practically at a standstill tonight.

Odd Spectacle Presented Up at Stockton.

Bay City Local Provides Men to Fill Places.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

STOCKTON, Oct. 4.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The spectacle of one set of union men being on a strike and another lot of union men taking their places, has developed in this city, and the employers are at a loss to understand the situation.

The union men employed by the American River Electric Company were ordered out at noon today and they obeyed the call along with the men in other cities.

The officials of the company were immediately notified that the electrical workers located at San Francisco would send union men to take the places of those who walked out, and this evening several of the new men arrived and will go to work tomorrow.

The manager of the company declares he has not been informed why it was necessary for a demand was made for $1 per day and it was not granted.

The union men who come from the new organization in San Francisco accepted the $1.50 per day, or the scale that has been in force. The officials of the company assert that the strike will in no way interfere with local service, but may hamper construction and improvement work for a time.

FUTURE OF THE PHILIPPINES.

Views of Ex-Congressman Towne of New York.

(Correspondence Washington Star.)

Hon. Charles A. Towne, Representative from New York in the last Congress, member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs, and for ten years or more a figure in national Democratic politics, has returned from a four months' trip to Japan, Korea and the Philippines. He spent several weeks in the Philippines going over the islands, the most of the time under escort and the guest of officials of the Philippines and United States government.

In an interview with Mr. Towne I asked him, "Would you sell the islands to any nation at this time?"

"Positively no," he replied. "I would favor defending them against aggression to the limit from any source."

"Absolutely yes," he continued. "Then, whatever the ultimate disposition of the Philippine question, would you not insist upon the United States retaining a naval and commercial base in the Philippines?"

"Certainly, yes," he replied. "There can be no doubt," he continued, "that we should take a very active part in the commerce, soon to reach huge proportions, of the Far East. American enterprise will naturally and inevitably seek to do so."

"Such is the logic of international policy, and we must face circumstances as they are. Of course, our geography and the pressure of economic events impose upon us a pacific problem. We must decide either to take part in the tremendous development of the Orient, which is imminent, or to remain out of it."

"No useful view of the far eastern question can be taken by any man who fails to look at it primarily from the Japanese standpoint. We must remember that Japan, with an area about equal to the State of Montana, has a population of more than 50,000,000."

"That she is under an economic strait-jacket to expand her territory for the purpose of finding living room for her people, and of widening her area of control so as to obtain both raw materials for her industries and wider markets for her products. Japan is bent upon becoming a manufacturing nation. She is very limited in the supply of raw materials."

"For example, I visited in Osaka a brush factory, employing some 650 hands, whose principal output is tooth brushes, and I found that the bones of which the handles are made are imported from Canada City, Chicago and Omaha; that the bristles come from North China, and that the product is almost wholly sold in the New York market after paying a duty of 35 per cent, and the double freightage on raw material and finished product."

"I saw large cotton mills working upon Chinese cotton. I saw great woolen mills manufacturing Chinese wool. Almost the entire output of these woolen and cotton mills is disposed of in the constantly widening markets of the Celestial Empire. From the standpoint of Japanese national advantage,

Now is your opportunity to investigate the wonderful opportunities of this high-grade subdivision, which is a beautifully lying piece of land, with a gradual rise from Vermont ave. to Normandie ave., and the altitude gives a fine view of the long ranges of mountains and of Los Angeles and surrounding country, and also the benefits of the ocean breeze. Manchester Heights has two rapid transit electric lines, and opposite the southwest boundary of Los Angeles; also has the pleasures of country life and the conveniences of the city, near stores and churches, and only one block from a new $14,000 public school. The improvements are high-grade, including graded and oiled streets, lined with beautiful trees; also cement sidewalks and curbs and abundance of artesian water piped along the rear of all lots; these improvements are of the best workmanship. The soil is of a dark, sandy loam, where fruits, vegetables and flowers grow of surpassing quality. Invest your idle dollar where it will double every year; large, slightly lots, 152 feet deep to 16-foot alleys. Bring your friends or your family out and view this beautiful location.

Remember, in taking advantage of these trips you are in no way obliged to buy. We simply desire to show you the property and allow your own good judgment to decide whether you purchase or not.

They have adopted a "popular-price" idea, in making charges for repairs. The Mill-Price people have the largest garage in the city, and is the oldest, having been established almost ten

16 THE CITY IN BRIEF NEWS AND BUSINESS.

May Wagon Wrecked.
A car on the Boyle Heights line ran into a heavily loaded hay wagon at First and 8th streets, wrecking the vehicle and tearing out the front of the car. No one was injured, but traffic was tied up on that section of the line for half an hour.

Tongs at Peace—Perhaps.
The long war, which, for the past six months, has disturbed the Chinese quarter, was settled peacefully yesterday afternoon when the members of the Beng Goon and Po On tongs paid $250 to the Hop Sing Tong.

War on Garbage Cans.
"Upon making a round of the city I found that more than half of the garbage cans now in use are unsanitary," said Deputy Garbage Inspector Harris yesterday. "I have had signs printed. After this, whenever I find an unsanitary can, I will paste on a sign. If the warning is not heeded, prosecutions will follow."

Morley's Reopens.
Morley's large rink, on Grand avenue, reopened auspiciously last night, but not for skating purposes. Fred Limousine, who has been successfully promoting amusements along the strand at Venice, has taken the place, and has turned it into a commodious and well-lighted dancing saloon. Appropriate decorations have been placed, and an excellent orchestra is employed.

Woman and Man Injured.
N. A. Watson, 78 years of age and his housekeeper, Mrs. Bud P. Watson, were painfully injured yesterday morning when a Jefferson street car collided with a light runaway in which they were driving, at Jefferson and Melrose streets. Watson was stunned by the shock and sustained a fracture of the left clavicle and possibly internal injuries. Mrs. Watson escaped with scratches and cuts.

Hand Caught in Machine.
The left hand of Charles Foster of No. 1524 South Main street was torn early from his arm yesterday while he was polishing a piece of brass at the W. G. Hatches factory, No. 527 Santee street. He caught his hand in a buffer and was badly injured before fellow employees, hearing Foster's cries, succeeded in stopping the machinery. At the receiving hospital the police surgeons operated upon his hand and believe that they can save the member.

Sitting Going North.
Edward C. Bittling, whose alleged improper letters to Miss Myrtle Rainey of this city resulted in his arrest by the Federal authorities, ordered removed to San Francisco, yesterday, by United States Commissioner Van Dyke. He was in the custody of a northern district of the United States District Court, as the correspondence in question was mailed at Santa Clara and when northern district authorities were taken to San Francisco, tomorrow, by United States Marshal Leo Youngworth.

Stole to Buy Books.
To secure money with which to buy school books, they had pulled out 12 years old, of No. 1542 Cordova street, and David Myers, 10 years old, of No. 525 Auburn street, stole a quantity of automatic supplies from a barn at Twentieth and Ellendale streets, September 18. They were arrested last night on a warrant sworn to by E. Bennett, 210 West Seventh street. They confessed. The boys said that they did not need the money, but desired to buy their own books without asking their parents for aid.

Arrest Ends Romance.
According to information gained by Secret Service Agent Hazen, Earl E. Davenport, alias Alexander, who is now in the County Jail, on a charge of counterfeiting, is an ex-convict and is wanted on a charge of forgery in Illinois. The records show Davenport served time in Joliet Penitentiary. It is charged that he committed a forgery shortly after his release. Before coming to this city, Davenport worked in Sacramento under the name of Alexander. It is said he was engaged to marry a Los Angeles girl and the wedding was set for a date a few days subsequent to his arrest on the charge of counterfeiting.

Union's Letter.
Secretary F. J. Zeehandelaar of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association received the following communication yesterday from the secretary of the local union of bookbinders: "Your letter relative to the eight-and-one-half-hour day was received and read before a meeting of the bookbinders of this city. I am instructed to thank the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, and yourself in particular, for the courtesy shown our committee in its conference with you. We wish to state we have no agreement with any organization whatever among the printing trades."

Twenty-Three for Hobos.
Undesirable Visitors Invited to Leave City or Join Chain Gang—Many Thieves Reported.

Alarmed at the increasing number of petty thieves about the city, police are engaged in clearing Los Angeles of hobos and other objectionable characters who are warning here for the winter season. The hobos are warned to leave town under penalty of long terms on the chain gang.

Yesterday the theft of a handbag containing $10 was reported by Mrs. M. R. Morris of No. 421 West Adams street. She had left the bag in one of the pockets of her automobile. Half a dozen other thefts were reported yesterday.

UNPLEASANT CHARGE.
Charles W. Houston, a creditor of C. O. Hawley, an insurance man of this city, filed a petition in the United States District Court yesterday, asking that Hawley be declared a bankrupt. In the petition it is alleged that Hawley transferred about $100 of his funds to M. H. Frank of San Francisco in order to deprive his creditors of it.

DESERT FABLE OR HARD LUCK?

Loss of Burro Loaded With Nuggets Mourned.

Prospector's Tale of Gold Very Tantalizing.

His Erring Beast Last Seen With Wild Herd.

Mark Wallace, who claims to be a prospector in the Funeral Mountains, arrived in Los Angeles yesterday on a strange mission, and is registered at a Main-street lodging-house.

Those in whom he confided don't know whether to believe him or to regard him as a crank. The story, as he told it to a Times reporter, sounds wild, but his earnestness is convincing. In brief, he wants to get help to capture a burro that has escaped into the desert, carrying a pack in which there are nuggets worth a small fortune.

Mark Wallace, Nevada prospector, who tells a queer story about a wild burro with a pack full of gold.

Wallace is an understood man and very much tanned. He stutters slightly when he talks. He says that he is of Welsh parentage.

"I have been out in the Funeral Range for a couple of years, off and on," said Wallace. "I went into Bullfrog two years ago last April, but couldn't locate anything, and cut across the Amargosa into the Funeral Mountains. Of course, I have been out several times, but went back again as soon as I could get a grub stake."

"It is hardly fair to ask me where I finally landed, inasmuch as the mine is not fully located.

"About two months ago, I struck something right in a region that has been often prospected, but never before with any result. I was alone at the time, my partner having gone back to Rhyolite for grub.

"By the merest accident I happened on some loose surface stuff, and followed it up into the hills. The indications were very strong, and I worked there alone for several days without much result. I was about to abandon the hole, when I happened on this pay streak. It was sheer first gold.

"I have been out in the desert countries pretty much all my life but I never saw anything like this before. I don't ask anybody's belief, because it's nobody's business, but there were nuggets there that would make your eyes bulge out.

"Of course, it may be only a pocket, but I don't believe so. I decided to pack all that I could carry on the burro and 'beat it' for civilization as fast as I could. I wanted to get in, have the gold assayed and file my location.

"I collected the richest of the ore with the nuggets in two sacks and packed them on the burro and started for the south. I decided not to wait for my partner, but left a note telling him what I had done.

PLACES CASH ON BROADWAY.

Chicago Man Investing His Millions Here.

Fifty-four Hundred Paid Per Front Foot.

Great Sale Yesterday Has Future Bearing.

The sale yesterday of the property at Nos. 443, 445, 447 South Broadway for $235,000 spot cash marks another record price for Broadway frontage, it figuring to $400 a front foot. The property was purchased by George T. Brown, a millionaire from Chicago, and a brother of John C. Brown, formerly Collector of Customs in this city. The property was sold by the Rowan-Ford Company, composed of Tod Ford, Pasadena multi-millionaire, and R. A. Brown & Co., this city. The deal was transacted entirely through the office of M. J. Nolan, who had been commissioned by Mr. Cline to pick out a choice piece of inside income property on Broadway, several weeks ago, and chose this as a representative parcel of Los Angeles real estate.

The property consists of a lot 61.15 feet frontage with a depth of 165 feet to an alley. It is improved with a modern and substantial four-story brick basement brick business block which is occupied by Weaver-Jackson Company, Burns, and Bennett & Hendon. The three upper floors are occupied by Weaver-Jackson Company and Hendon & Hendon. The total rental is at present only $1250 a month, on a lease which will expire in the near future. Upon the expiration of the lease the building probably will be renovated and the rents will then be raised to between $3500 and $4000 a month.

The purchaser, Mr. Cline, is a native son, having been born in Los Angeles where the Cline family is well known. He at one time ran against Martin Marsh for Sheriff for the county and was defeated. Four years ago he came to Chicago and engaged in business, where he was successful. He now has a fortune of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, invested in various enterprises in the Windy City. This he is planning to withdraw and bring to Los Angeles for investment, having commissioned Mr. Nolan to secure several other downtown locations for him.

The property was sold very reluctantly by the Rowan-Ford Company, which is exclusively owned by the two parties mentioned, R. A. Brown and O. H. Church. It was the adjoining lot to the north, on which the Hotel California stands. This is of the same dimensions as the lot sold, and Mr. Brown states that he will let it go for anything short of half a million dollars. The Rowan company also has a long lease on the corner of Fifth and Broadway, adjoining on the south the property just sold. This is 120 feet front on the thoroughfare, and has a depth of 165 feet. Ultimately close here with the Huntington interests. They incline to believe that it was just a "yellow tale."

One of the direct results of this sale will be the commencement of work on the long-planned ten-story addition to the Hotel Alexandria, which will occupy the southeast corner of Fifth and Broadway. Plans for it have been nearly completed.

LARGE BENEFIT PLANNED.
Odd Fellows Will Give Entertainment To Raise Money for Sick Relief Fund.

On Tuesday evening at Temple Auditorium, Dr. Robert J. Burdette will deliver his famous humorous lecture, "The Rise and Fall of the Mustache," for the benefit of the Friendship Fund of the Odd Fellows' General Relief Committee. In addition to Dr. Burdette's lecture several other attractions will be presented, among them "The White Dragons," a chorus of thirty voices, composed entirely of Odd Fellows.

During the year past the General Relief Committee cared for 300 ill and destitute Odd Fellows. Many of the men had come to California in search of health and, being too ill to work, the order cared for them. The money for the work is subscribed entirely by the lodges of Los Angeles, there being no provision for a permanent income from other sources.

When an unfortunate member of the order falls ill here it is the office of the General Relief Committee to seek him out and care for him. This requires money and necessitates other steps than simple assessment of the more fortunate members. Through the benefit the members of the General Relief Committee hope to receive a considerable sum of money to be devoted to caring for unfortunate Odd Fellows.

DEAR TO THE LADIES.
Broadway Department Store Invites Them to Visit the Fashion Exposition Today.

The Broadway Department Store's exposition of latest styles in women's wear continues through today. The display consists of the choicest creations for the opera, drawing-room or for street wear; cloaks, suits and hats to suit the modest buyer, as well as those who wish to buy the most exclusive productions.

In the display are also shown lace, trimmings and other articles devoted to the feminine heart, in such profusion that a visit will prove educative on prevailing styles, secured from all the great fashion centers.

DEATH IS SUDDEN.
Heart Failure Causes Passing of Miss Helen McFarland at Home of Justice Pierce.

Miss Helen McFarland died suddenly of heart disease, yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of Justice H. A. Pierce, No. 3012 Hollywood avenue.

Miss McFarland was a member of Justice Pierce's family, and had been a companion of Mrs. Pierce for fourteen years. She was a native of Ohio, member of a prominent family of that State, well known in business and political lines.

Miss McFarland was a woman of rare beauty of character, finely educated, and deeply beloved by those who knew her. The funeral arrangements will await the arrival of friends from the East.

BRIDAL TRIP, BALKY AUTO.

Whittier Couple Delayed All Night on Way from Los Angeles.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.
WHITTIER, Oct. 4.—A bumpy automobile was responsible for keeping a bridal couple out on the Montebello mesa all last night. Miss Nancy Elizabeth Wing and Frank C. Owens, a well-known young business man of this city, were married in the evening at the Friends Church. Immediately after the ceremony, they started for Los Angeles in a motor car, which had been placed at their disposal.

All went well until the bridal auto reached the foot of the hill leading on to the mesa; then the engine balked. The borrowed chauffeur tinkered with the borrowed car, but all to no avail. Every part was carefully gone over, every possible bolt tightened. In spite of the chilly air the chauffeur worked himself into a perspiration, but the car would not go; every turn of the crank brought forth a dull grunt, but no explosion.

Finally, at 4 o'clock in the morning, after the bride and groom had spent the night freezing, the engine was repaired. With a shout of triumph the driver jumped on board and the journey to Los Angeles was completed.

HEALTH IS BETTER.
Mr. Huntington Taking a Rest and Wild Yellow Tale of Break-down Is Denied.

Friends of H. E. Huntington in Los Angeles are indignant over the yellow story which appeared in a morning paper yesterday insinuating that Mr. Huntington was in such poor health that he is incapacitated for business. They say that the only foundation for it is that Mr. Huntington has been working hard and is taking a rest at his home at Oxnard, N. Y.

My father was not feeling well for about two months before he left Los Angeles, due to indigestion," said Howard E. Huntington yesterday. "But he is much better now than when he left, according to a recent message I have received from him. He does not know when he will return as he still has a great deal of business to attend to in the East."

Just what reason there was behind the alarming reports published, as the paper acknowledged, "without authority," is a puzzle to those who are in close touch here with the Huntington interests. They incline to believe that it was just a "yellow tale."

BEWARE!
WARN AGAINST LAND FAKE.

ESPEE OFFICIALS EXPOSE GAME OF "COLONIZERS."

"San Rafael Valley Development Company" Selling "Units" in "Colonet," Mexico, Offering Alleged Railroad Transportation—Get Some Victims in N. Y.

Local officials of the Southern Pacific Company have received word from New York headquarters to be on the lookout for agents of the "San Rafael Valley Development Company," who are offering to sell tracts of land supposed to be located in Lower California.

As a special inducement, what the promoters falsely claim to be free transportation is offered over the Harriman road. Thursday night a "unit" of land selling at $100 a unit is given a buff slip of paper purporting to entitle the bearer to transportation to any designated point in Southern California—a yellow humbug.

The promoters have been securing customers in New York State and some of the supposedly alert residents of the metropolis have acknowledged themselves taken in by the plausible story of the "colonization" agents.

The San Rafael company at one time occupied offices on West Forty-second street, New York City, but left hurriedly without paying the last month's rent. Agents have been reported to meet them at the Los Angeles offices of the Southern Pacific and escort them to the proposed site of a little city to arise in "Colonet," Mexico.

Inasmuch as the buff transportation slips were naturally not honored by the railroad, it is believed few of the victims will reach this city.

According to the literature of the concern, its holdings consist of 55,000 acres in San Rafael Valley, Lower California. This indefinite address is given without any apparent excuse, on the supposition that prospective purchasers will not be critical.

In order to secure the apparent backing of the Southern Pacific Company, one of the swindlers carried a card reading, "Colonization Department, Southern Pacific, J. R. Bliss, special representative, San Francisco, Cal."

There is no such person connected with the Southern Pacific and the publicity of the concern strongly resembles those used by "Oily" Walcott of the unsavory California Fruit Growers' Association.

FREAK WINDS, RAIN SQUALL.

"Norther" of Yesterday Was Odd Fellow.

Thunder, Lightning, Snow and Whirlwinds.

Not Much Damage Reported, Weather Today.

Wind freaks imbued with imps of mischief grated throughout Southern California yesterday as though rejoicing in a freedom long denied. No serious damage is reported from any section, but the imps kicked up wonderful clouds of dust, pulled over a few trees, stripped the leaves from many others, upset a few summer houses, made the chickens feel ragged and had a high old time generally.

In many respects it was the most remarkable shower wind that ever caved through the Southland. The air was filled with the minute particles of sand from the desert and there was a general grimy feeling in the atmosphere exceedingly unpleasant. These things are expected in an ordinary and orthodox "norther" but in this case the high onrushing desert wind was followed by squalls of rain, which makes this one in a way a record-breaker.

But more curious than any other phase of this erratic wind is the fact that snow—real white snow—fell on the San Bernardino Mountains and even cut skylarks of from communication by telephone from San Bernardino.

This snowfall should be an indication of plenty of the "beautiful" in the mountains this season with the result that an extra crop of water in the valleys can be looked for next year.

But around Los Angeles it was along the foothills that the wind got in its best kicks.

IS REAL IMPHIL.
Up on the Eagle Rock car line, just beyond the city limits, a fancy green lath summer-house was blown over by a miniature whirlwind, which then picked up a heavy outdoor table 18 feet long and a yard wide and slammed it down on top of the summer-house to the latter's great damage. One of the big panes of glass in a window of the two-story house near by was also blown in, while the freakish of freaks, the little whirl picked a pallet bed of a flock of about fifteen and blew it clear across the railroad track. Since this chicken came home again it has been vainly trying to take another flight.

Up in Glendale the "norther" had an accompaniment of thunder and lightning and the rain fell in torrents for a short time. Happily the bulk of the strawberry crop there and in Tropic was gathered last week, but a great many acres of berries were more or less damaged and there is liable to be a scarcity for a time. The grape crop was also damaged, although in this case also much of the wine grape crop has been picked.

The wind throughout the San Fernando Valley was more freakish than elsewhere and sweeping down the valley followed whirlwind after whirlwind, gathering and carrying with them great clouds of sand and dust and doing slight damage to fences and trees. In front of the home of C. B. Guenhart, on Grand boulevard, near the Country Club, a big tree was blown down; yet close by another and slighter tree was hardly bent.

One curious feature of this freakish "norther" is that in different townships different kinds of weather prevailed, although rain is reported from all sections.

SNOW ON MOUNTAINS.
The oldest inhabitant fails to recall a storm more severe than that which swept San Bernardino Thursday. The electrical disturbance was widespread, leaving in its wake lightning-riven trees, shattered window glass, flaming electric poles and stunned and frightened people. Thursday night the trouble began. There was a high wind and occasional showers, electricity setting fire to poles, fifteen of which were ablaze at one time near Elizaville.

Gradually the wind increased and at 12:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon a drenching rainstorm swept down from the north. Several electrical discharges shook the city. One bolt struck a tree at Ninth and J streets, stripping it of its branches; another encountered an electric light pole at Third and G streets, stunning Miss Bertha Bruhl, book-keeper for the Santa Fe Steam Laundry, who was at her desk in the building; a third struck a cottonwood tree on Harris alley, cutting a furrow down its trunk, shattering windows in nearby residences and stunning Mrs. M. F. Shafer.

When the clouds cleared, yesterday afternoon, the mountain ridge was seen to be white with snow. This was the earliest snowstorm on the mountains in many years. The first snow last year occurred on November 23. The government recorder reports .3 of an inch of rain. No report is obtainable from the mountains, as wires are down, but swollen streams indicate immense rainfall in all of the cañons.

HAWKS BLOW IN.
In Monrovia there was intermittent rain, but the mountain peaks were crowned with heavy masses of clouds which at a late hour last evening proved a downpour. No damage was reported, though the high wind in connection with the rain came as a surprise, as it did everywhere.

A curious feature of the storm was that it seemed to blow all the hawks out of the mountains and a flock of about forty descended upon Monrovia in a fury upon the poultry yard. Never before in that district have hawks been seen in such numbers and it is believed that they are the remnants of a flock which, last year, raided Duarte in such numbers that the ranchers turned out with shotguns to annihilate them.

Throughout the San Gabriel Valley there was rain at intervals during the day with high winds and squalls, but no serious damage is reported. The story which came to Los Angeles that the apple crop of the Yucaipa Valley had been ruined by the wind proved to have been greatly exaggerated. Last night a message reached the office of The Times from that valley that only about 1 per cent of the crop was blown from the trees and most of these were already ripe.

BUSINESS MAN INTERVIEWED.

A. T. Brant, on behalf of The Times, obtained an interview on industrial and financial conditions with R. S. Donaldson, secretary and treasurer of the Erie County Savings Bank, Buffalo, N. Y.

"Money is not as high today as it has been and I expect to see it cheaper in the near future."

"The property of the country is in fine shape and I see no reason to expect a period of stagnation."

"Lawyers' trades unions, to a very great extent, are the cause of the industrial disturbances resulting in strikes and boycotts."

"Owners and managers cannot pay excessively high wages, coupled with short hours."

"For prosperity, we must have freedom in the industries."

"The general public demand that the officials investigate and prosecute the practice of graft that was being carried on throughout the country. The probable results of the investigation will be for the good of the country as a whole."

"I do not think there is any danger from large industrial combinations, provided they are lawfully conducted."

FRANK G. CARPENTERS letter from the Erie Valley will be an interesting part of The Times Magazine the coming Sunday.

The Powers and Maxine.

By C. N. and A. M. Williamson.

CHAPTER I.

LISA DRUMMOND'S PART.

It had come at last, the moment I had been thinking about for days. I was going to have him all to myself, the only person in the world I ever loved.

He had asked me to sit out two dances, and that made me think that he really must want to be with me, not just because I'm the "pretty girl's sister," but because I'm myself, Lisa Drummond.

Being what I am—queer, and plain, I can't bear to think that men like girls for their beauty; yet I can't help liking men better if they are handsome. Don't know if I've said so, but I'm the handsomest man I ever saw, but he seems so to me. I don't know if he is very good, or really very wonderful, although he's clever and ambitious enough; but he has a way that makes women fond of him; and men admire him, too. He looks straight into your eyes when he talks to you, as if he cared more for you than any other person in the world.

Perhaps his expression wouldn't be exactly right for a young man, but still, I have seen just that sort of look on his face. It was generally when he was talking to me, and I wouldn't let myself believe that it meant anything in particular. He has the reputation of having made lots of women fall in love with him. There was one of the first things I heard when I and I came over from America to visit Lord and Lady Mountstuart. And, of course, there was the story about him and Maxine de Rensie. Every one was talking of it when we first arrived in London.

My heart beat very fast as I guided him into the room which Lady Mountstuart had given him and me for our special use. It is separated by another larger room from the hall, and both doors were open, and we could see people dancing.

I told him he might sit by me on the sofa under the book shelves, because we could talk better there. Usually, I don't like being in front of a mirror, because, well, because I'm only a "pretty girl's sister." But I didn't mind. My cheeks were red and my eyes bright. Sitting down, you might almost take me for a tall girl. And the way my eyes were made didn't show that one shoulder is a little higher than the other. Di designed the dress.

I thought, if I wasn't pretty, I did look interesting, and original. I looked as if I could think of things; and as if I could feel.

And I was feeling. I was wondering why he had been so kind to me lately, unless he cared. Of course it might be for Di's sake; but I didn't care. I was looking that no man could ever be so interested in me.

They say pity is akin to love. Perhaps he had begun by pitying me, because Di has everything, and I nothing; and then, afterwards he had found out that I was intelligent and sympathetic.

He sat by me and didn't say a word at first. Just then Di passed the far away, open door of the ballroom, dancing with Lord Robert West, the Duke of Glasgow's brother-in-law.

"Thank you so much for the book," I said. (He had sent me a book that morning—his book, "The Powers and Maxine.")

He didn't seem to hear, and then he turned suddenly, with one of his nice smiles. I always think he has the nicest smile in the world, and he has the nicest voice. His eyes look very kind, and a little sad. I will him kind to love me.

"I made me happy to get it," I went on.

"I made me happy to send it," he said.

"Does it please you to do things for me?" I asked.

"Why, of course."

"You do like poor little me a tiny bit, then?" I could hear him adding, "Even though I'm different from other girls?"

"Perhaps more for that reason," he said, with his voice as kind as his eyes.

"Oh, what shall I do if you go away?" I burst out, partly because I really meant it, and partly because I hoped it might lead him on to say what I wanted so much to hear. "Suppose you get that consulship at Algiers?"

"I hope I may," he said quickly. "A consulship isn't very great thing, but it's a beginning. I want it badly."

"I wish I had some influence with the Foreign Secretary," said I, not telling him that the man actually dislikes me, and looks at me as if I were a toad.

"Of course he's Lord Mountstuart's cousin, and brother-in-law as well, and that makes him very powerful in the family, doesn't it? But it isn't as if I were really related to Lady Mountstuart. I was never sorry before that Di and I were sisters-in-law, not a bit sorry, though her mother had all the money, and brought it to my poor father; but now I wish I were Lady Mountstuart's niece, and that I had some of the coaxing, 'glorious' ways Di can put on when she wants to get something out of people. I'd make the Foreign Secretary give me exactly what you wanted, even if it took you far, far from me."

With that, he looked at me, suddenly, and his face grew slowly red, under the brown.

"You are a very kind girl," he said. "Imp" is the name he invented for me. I loved to hear him call me by it.

"Kind?" I echoed. "One isn't kind when one likes people."

I saw by his eyes then, that he knew. But I didn't make him say the words I longed to hear—even because he pitted me, because he had really too much of the dark-young-Crusader-bright in him, to break my heart. I made up my mind that I would take him at his word, quickly. If he gave me the chance, and I would tell Di that he was devotedly in love with me. That would make her write.

I kept my eyes on him, and I let them tell him everything. He saw, then, that there was no doubt of that; but he did not say the words I hoped for. A moment or two, he was silent; and then, gazing away toward the door of the ballroom, he spoke very gently as if I had been a child—though I am older than Di by three or four years.

"Thank you, Imp, for letting me see that you are such a staunch little friend," said he. "Now that I know you really do take an interest in my affairs, I think I may as well tell you that I love her, and if I go to Algiers—"

"Don't say any more," I managed to cut him short. "I can't hear—I mean, I understand. I did guess before."

It was true. I had guessed, but I wouldn't let myself believe. I hoped, against hope. He was so much kinder to me than any other man ever took the trouble to be, in all my wretched embittered twenty-three years of life. "I might have told me," I went on, gazing on, rather than let the long silence between us just then. I had enough pride not to want him to see me cry—though, if it could have made any difference, I could have groveled at his feet and wet them with my tears. "But she never does tell me anything about herself."

"She's so unselfish, and so fond of you, that probably she likes better to talk about you instead," he defended her. And then I felt that I could hate him, as much as I've always hated Di, deep down in my heart. At that minute I should have liked to kill her, and watch his face when he found her lying dead—out of his reach forever.

"Suddenly," he hurried on, "I've never asked her yet if she would marry me, because—my prospects weren't very brilliant. She knows of course that I love her."

"And if you get the consulship you'll put the important question?" I cut him short, trying to be pleasant.

"Yes," he told me tonight, because I—because you were so kind. I felt I should like to have you know."

Kind! Yes, I had been so kind. But it was putting on my foot I could have crushed every hope of his for the future—every hope that in which my steeper Diana Forrest had any part. I would have done it, just as I trampled on anti in the country gentlemen, for the pleasure of feeling that I even I—have power of life and death.

I swallowed hard, to keep the sob back. I'm never very strong or well, but now I felt broken, ready to die. I was glad when I heard the music stop in the ballroom.

"There!" I said. "The two dances you asked me to sit out with you are over. I'm sure you're engaged for the next."

"Yes, Imp, I am."

"No, I have No. 12 with her."

"Thirteen! Unlucky number."

"Any number is lucky that gives me a chance with her. The next one coming now is with Mrs. George Allendale."

"Oh, yes, the actor manager's wife. She goes everywhere; and Lord Mountstuart likes theatrical celebrities. This house ought to be very serious and political, but we have every sort of creature here—provided it's an amusing, or successful, or good-looking one. By the way, used Maxine de Rensie to come here, when she was acting in London at George Allendale's theatre? That was before Di and I arrived on the scene, you remember."

"I remember. Oh, yes, she came here. It was in this house I met her first, on the stage, I believe."

"What a sweet memory! Wasn't Mrs. George awfully jealous of her husband when he had such a fascinating beauty for his leading lady?"

"You needn't look cross with me. I'm not saying anything against your gorgeous Maxine."

"Of course not. Nobody could. But you mustn't call Miss de Rensie 'my Maxine,' please, Imp."

"I beg your pardon," I said. "You have heard other people call her that—in joke. And you dedicated your book about Lhasa, that made you such a famous person, to her, didn't you?"

"No. What made you think that?" He was really annoyed, and I was pleased if anything could please me, in my despair.

"Why everybody thinks it. It was dedicated to 'M.' as if the name were a secret, so—"

"Everybody is very stupid then. 'M.' is an old lady, my god-mother, who helped me with money for my expedition to Lhasa, otherwise I couldn't have gone. And she isn't the kind that likes to see her name in print. Now, where shall I take you, Imp? Because I must go and look for Mrs. Allendale."

"I'll stay where I am, thank you," I said, "and watch you dance from far off. That's my part in life, you know: watching other people dance from far off."

When he was gone I leaned back among the cushions, and I wasn't sure that one of my heart attacks would not come on. I felt horribly alone, and deserted, and that I had lost him. And always have hated her, ever since the tiny child and her mother (a beautiful, rich, young Californian widow) came into my father's house in New York, she does know how to manage me better than anyone else, when I am in such moods. I could have screamed for her, at that time, helplessly looking through the open doors; and then, at last, I saw her, as if my wish had been a call which had reached her over the music in the ballroom.

She had stopped dancing, and with her partner (Lord Robert, again) entered the room which lay between our "den" and the ball-room. Probably they would have gone on to the conservatory, which can be reached in that way, but I cried her name, as loudly as I could, and she heard. Only a moment she paused—long enough to send Lord Robert away—and then she came straight to me. He must have been furious; but I didn't care for that.

KNOCKED OUT AND ROBBED.

Japanese Servant Reports That Two Highwaymen Took His Money and Watch.

K. Asahi, a Japanese servant employed at No. 125 Vine street, was knocked out and robbed by two highwaymen in the rear of the house where he works, about 8:30 o'clock last night, and $5.00 and a watch taken from him.

Apparently the highwaymen were negroes, although the Japanese acknowledged he may have been too excited to have gained a good description of them.

Practically gesticulating and uttering unintelligible sentences, Asahi was carried to the Central Station. His face was bruised and his clothing was torn. After vain efforts to gain some idea of what he was saying, the police sent for R. Mittani, an interpreter.

The Japanese said that he left the house through the rear door and went into a vacant lot between San Pedro street. He noticed two poorly-dressed men approaching him. Without a word, they attacked him, and after rendering him helpless, they took his money and watch.

Maj. Orrin Bump.

"TAPS."

ANSWERS HIS A LAST ROLL CALL.

GALLANT CIVIL WAR OFFICER CLAIMED BY DEATH.

Maj. Orrin Bump, Who Faithfully Served Not Only His Country, but His Church and Fellowmen, Breathes His Last at His Home in Ocean Park.

A busy, useful life, devoted to country, family and friends, was ended when death called Maj. Orrin Bump, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at his home, No. 23 Paloma avenue, Ocean Park.

As a soldier, a citizen and a business man he had served his country well, and in his last years, although a great sufferer, he maintained his keen interest in the world's events, in his church activities and in various philanthropies with which he had long been associated.

For thirty-seven years Maj. Bump held an important place in the life of the city, and his death was a great loss to the community.

He was born at Flushing, Mich., August 12, 1844. His early years were spent in the public schools of that state, and he had fairly entered his college work when the first guns of the Civil War were fired, and their sound awoke within him a burning patriotism which carried him into the struggle.

Enlisting as a private, a member of the Eighth Michigan Volunteer Infantry, he had attained the rank of brevet-major when he received his discharge at the close of the war.

Maj. Bump participated in twenty-five engagements, including the battles of the Wilderness, Cold Harbor and Petersburg. Once only was he wounded, and he was promoted to the rank of captain for his gallant service, and proved a capable and popular officer.

Immediately after the close of the war, Maj. Bump returned to his home at Bay City, Mich., and entered a banking institution. He soon organized the Second National Bank of Bay City, and conducted this institution until thirty years ago, when he reorganized the concern and it assumed the name of the Old Second National Bank of Bay City.

For thirty-seven years it was his business acumen which guided the affairs of this important financial institution, and it was not until warned of the danger of a sudden collapse of the bank that Maj. Bump decided to drop business cares and seek rest from many financial activities.

On January 15, 1885, Maj. Bump married Mrs. Anna M. Chapin of Bay City, Mich. Besides the widow, he leaves three step-sons, Harlow C. Chapin and Edwin J. Chapin of Los Angeles; Harry P. Chapin, of Bay City, Mich., and an adopted son, Earl C. Bump, who is at Belmont Military Academy.

On account of a slight stroke of paralysis, Maj. Bump resigned the active management of his banking interests at Bay City in 1901, and with his family came to California. After making a leisurely survey of the various Southern California towns, he selected Ocean Park as a place of great charm and much promise, and purchased extensive properties there. He built a handsome residence at Redwood near Pasadena, and not content with an idle life, after all his years of activity, he directed the improvement of his various properties during the past five years.

Soon after his coming to Ocean Park, Maj. Bump became instrumental in securing the establishment of an Episcopal church society at that place. He had been a member of this church since his early youth, and in Bay City for many years had served as a vestryman.

He was a member of the H. P. Merrill Post, No. 418, Grand Army of the Republic, of Bay City, Mich., and was also a member of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion, Michigan Commandery. He had served as the commander of that organization.

He was a man of high principle, great charity and full of sympathy for the unfortunate. His charities were many and so unostentatious that his closest friends scarcely were aware of their extent. Death was caused by an attack of Bright's disease.

Simple funeral services will be held at the Bump residence, No. 23 Paloma avenue, Ocean Park, tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock, and will be attended by comrades of the Loyal Legion and of the Grand Army of the Republic. Rev. Alfred R. Taylor of Ocean Park will conduct the funeral rites, assisted by Rev. Charles T. Murphy, Jr., of this city.

The honorary pall bearers named, all of the Loyal Legion, will be: Gen. Harrison Gray Otis, Col. E. W. C. Klokke, Col. Gilbert D. Munson, Col. J. L. Wheat, Maj. J. A. Donnell, Capt. J. B. Tuttle, Capt. S. M. Anderson, Capt. J. G. France and Capt. F. Edward Gray.

On Monday morning the remains will be taken back to the old family home, Bay City, Mich., where they will be interred in the family cemetery.

QUAKE ROMANCE SEQUEL.

San Bernardino Attorney to Wed the Foster Daughter of Millionaire Borax King.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 4.—Attorney Walter D. Cole, a popular young man of this section, is to be married Sunday in Oakland to Miss Winifred Burdette, foster daughter of W. H. Smith, the multi-millionaire "Borax King." The engagement was announced last April, just prior to the departure of Attorney Cole to Tonocoming in at the rate of about two cars per day and all the packing-houses are busy. The growers report a shortage in the crop as compared with last year, and some estimate it as high as 50 per cent, although the more conservative place the shortage at from 10 to 15 per cent.

THE ROMANCE.
The romance between the attorney and the foster daughter of the Borax King is a well-known story. They were first introduced when the attorney was in the city of Tono-

SPIKE ON POLE SAVES HIS LIFE.

LINEMAN HANGS IMPALED BY ARM TILL HELP ARRIVES.

But for Singular Accident Would Have Fallen to Pavement—Twenty Feet Below—Muscles Painfully Lacerated, but Wound is Believed to Not Be Serious.

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 4.—Impaled on the iron spike of an electric light pole, twenty feet above the pavement, Alfred G. King, a lineman in the employ of the electric light department of the city of Riverside, missed death by a narrow margin yesterday.

He and his father, who is also employed in the electric light department, were working on a pole on the corner of Twelfth and Lime streets, putting a transformer in place. Young King was climbing the pole to adjust the transformer, when in driving his spurs into the pole, he struck a crack. His foot slipped and he pitched backward.

OLD CASE SETTLED.
An orange spraying case that came up originally in the courts four years ago was finally concluded today by Judge Z. H. West of Santa Ana, presiding in the Superior Court for Judge Denmore. In October, 1903, A. W. Sterns and J. E. Elmore sprayed a small orange grove for A. Cross of Corona. Cross claimed that the spraying was carelessly done and refused to pay the bill of $23.50. Sterns and Elmore brought suit in Justice Cummins' court at Corona to enforce the bill. Cross entered a counter claim for $200 damages, alleging that the trees and fruit had been burned through the negligence of the spraying. This claim was recognized by the court and Cross was given damages. The suit was appealed by the plaintiffs, and after lingering in the Superior Court it was ordered dismissed today for lack of prosecution.

TAXES HIGH THERE.
Figures on Probable Cost of Running of the New County of Imperial Stated.

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 4.—Although the Supervisors of Imperial county recently fixed the tax rate at $4.25 per $100, this being on an estimated valuation on real and personal property of more than $4,000,000, which tax would afford the county about $100,000, the amount required to run the county a year, it has been discovered by the commission appointed by the Governor to adjust the financial matters between the two counties that the estimate of the new county is $150,000 over the true amount. This will mean a loss of $50,000 in the revenue of the county. In some of the school districts the tax rate will be over $5, being $4.50 in one of them.

RIALTO, Oct. 4.—The newly organized Rialto Light, Power and Water Company, a $100,000 stock concern, has elected J. C. Boyd, president; A. R. Paddock, vice-president; J. F. Martin, secretary, and the First National Bank of Rialto, treasurer. Yesterday morning their board of directors, composed of W. F. Martin, A. R. Paddock, J. C. Boyd, Frank Wade, J. F. Martin, E. Newcomb and A. H. Morgan, met with C. E. Haden, A. W. Childs and S. M. Kennedy of the Edison Electric Company and agreed on the terms of a contract, by which the Edison people will furnish them power for a period of five years, with an option to extend it to ten years. The Edison company has the material on hand and work is to begin immediately. For some time it had been a question whether the company would be able to obtain power from the Edison company, but the contract has been secured.

Another county in Kentucky has gone "dry" in local option election. In McLean county the temperance forces were victorious by a majority of 105, only 18 of the 113 counties in Kentucky remain "wet."

Weakness
Weakness in men is comparatively a simple ailment and is but a temporary condition. It is a condition of the nervous system, a congestion of an important nerve center. No stimulating treatment, whether internal or local, applied, can do more than excite temporary activity. By my system of local treatment I restore absolutely normal conditions throughout the organs involved, which promptly results in complete and permanent restoration of strength and vigor. This treatment is original with me, and it is the only radical and certain cure yet devised.

Varicocele
Varicocele is a relaxation, knotting and twisting of the most vital blood vessel of the organic system. It stagnates the local circulation and interferes with the proper action of the testicles. It brings about degeneration of functions and injury to the general health. Most physicians resort to surgical operations and hospital treatment. I cure varicocele in one week without operation, pain or detention from business. My cures are absolutely permanent and as its effects whatever can follow my treatment.

RUNAWAY KILLS HIM.

Los Angeles Man, Struck by Flying Rig, Fatally Injured at Anaheim.

ANAHEIM, Oct. 4.—E. Reditt of Los Angeles was killed yesterday afternoon while on his way from the Southern Pacific Depot to the city. He had just got off the train, due here about 4 o'clock, and was but a short distance from the station, when a runaway team, attached to a heavy wagon, ran him down, the end of the wagon-pole hitting Mr. Reditt on the side of the head, crushing the skull, and killing him instantly. Mr. Reditt, who was hard of hearing, did not hear the team coming until too late to escape. He was formerly in business here.

LOMPOC.
LOMPOC, Oct. 4.—The ranch owned by the Union Oil Company, and which consists of 1700 acres, has been sold to C. R. Hardenbrook for $17,000. The ranch has 200 acres of fine farming land, which Mr. Hardenbrook has had planted to beans, potatoes and mustard. From 100 acres planted to potatoes he will this season realize $6000.

Have You Any Chronic Disease?

Allments once comparatively simple and easily curable may by neglect or unscientific treatment so become rooted in the system that the victim will think his case one that has little hope of cure. We specially invite the most stubborn, persistent and long-standing cases, because it is in the successful treatment of these that our reputation as specialists has been made. Neglect of any chronic ailment is a crime against one's self. Our advice costs you nothing, and our treatment and charges are honest. If it should be that we are unable to give you practical benefit—a very rare occurrence, however long standing the malady—we shall tell you so frankly. Having cured you, we shall instruct you carefully how to avoid a recurrence of the trouble.
